DEAR DIANE

by Diane Van Arsdale

DEAR DIANE:
Our 18-old son had been very distressed for the longest time, and we tried reaching out to help him over the past several months, but he wasn't ready to take our help or advice. He came home for Christmas and what a glum day it was for him. He was extremely depressed and non-responsive. We tried everything we could to get him out of that state We tried talking him the New Year is upon us, and he could start the year off with a new outlook and promise of a better year ahead. Tt seemed last year everything possible that could go wrong for him, did. We invited him to our annual New Year's party. He never showed up that night, and we tried reaching him by phone, but there was no answer. In the morning, the most tragic thing imaginable became reality. My husband went to check on him, and found him dead. He left a note explaining he had nothing left to live for and life had handed him an unfair hand He had overdosed on sleeping pills. We all feel a terrible loss, and even though we know we tried to help, we still feel a sense of guilt, that we just didn't do enough. Our lives are torn apart. Any words you may have for us, to try to pull us through this time of sorrow, we would appreciate. DEVASTATED

DEAR DEVASTATED:
You and your family would benefit tremendously from joining a support group whose members have experienced the same tragedy you did. Ask your family doctor for a recom mendation. Of one in your area. Anger, guilt and bewilderment are common feelings in a situation such as yours. The people in the support group can help you sort out all those feelings and help you deal with them, as well as your grief. My prayers are with you and your family

A BETTER WHALE-OIL LAMP
Whale oil was the preferred source of light in the early 19th century. It was cheap and relatively low cost. All lighting was expensive, but inventors were always searching for better ways to burn fuel for light. In 1767 John Miles of Birmingham, England patented a new type of lamp from which could be piped into metal or glass lamps and did not spoil the oil.

A vertical wick tube was used for whale oil. Improvements continued and it was discovered that two wicks gave 2.25 times as much light as one wick. Three wicks gave 3.96 times as much as one. Most whale-oil lamps were made with two wicks.

In the 1830s, when whale oil was often used for lamps, the cost of a gallon of oil was $30. The whale oil was soon used for lubricants and manufacturing and the cost more than doubled. It almost doubled again during the Civil War but by then other fuels were preferred.

Q: I have a pair of bookends that look like a painted iron Conestoga wagon drawn by two horses. They were given to me by my mother with this story: "In 1930 when my father earned $17.50 a week working for the railroad and food shows cost $2.98, I needed a new pair of shoes. Your dad said I would have to wait two weeks until the next payday before I bought the shoes. We had quite a fight about this, and he left the apartment. When he came back and apologized, he brought a gift; the bookends with a $2.98 price tag. We had an even bigger fight about this. Now only the bookends and I survive; both antiques." The back of the bookends are marked "Hubley, 378." Can you tell me about the maker?

A: What a great story! Hubley Manufacturing Company of Lancaster, Pa. started in 1894 as a toy company making cast-iron toys. In the 1920s, they expanded and began making metal goods including bookends, doorstops, ashtrays and novelties of iron. They made these items until 1948. The company was sold several times and is now a division of CBS. There is a doorstop that matches your bookends, but it is a larger size 9½ inches long. Don't ever request the bookends. It will lower the value. What a great family heirloom. Today they are certainly worth much more than an old pair of shoes.

TIP: You can tell a piece of jade by the feel. It is cold even in warm weather

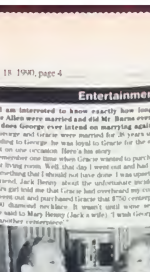
Q: I am interested to know exactly how long George Burns and Gracie Allen were married and did Mr. Burns ever "stray" as his wife? Also, does George ever intend on marrying again? C. E., Tifton, Ga.

A: George and Gracie were married for 38 years until her death in 1962. According to George he was loyal to Gracie for the entire 38 year marriage except on one occasion. Here is his story:

"I remember one time when Gracie wanted to purchase a $750 centerpiece for our living room. Well, that day I went out and had lots of money and did something that I should not have done. I was upset about it and called my best friend, Jack Benny, about the unfortunate incident. After the call our upstairs girl told me that Gregory had overheard my conversation with Jack. I then went out and purchased Gracie that $750 centerpiece she wanted and a $10,000 diamond necklace. It wasn't until seven years later when Gracie said to Mary Hensey (Jack's wife), 'I wish George would cheat again. I need another centerpiece.'"



As for another marriage, George says no, that Gracie was the only wife for him. While he does keep the company of younger women he admits it's more for companionship. "At my age (80), I have enough problems just getting my cigar into its holder let alone anything else."

For more of George's life you can pick up his new book at your local bookstores titled "All My Best Friends." In the book of all his friends George describes Georgie Jessel as the funniest person he knew when they went out on the town. However on stage he states that Groucho Marx was the funniest. George also discusses when he was a witness for the woman who lived with Groucho for seven years prior to his death and was in a court battle over the estate. Said George, "Any woman who lived with Groucho Marx for seven years doesn't deserve half of his estate she deserves it all."

Q: Is it true that Scott Valentine, formerly of "Family Ties" and the show's star Michael J. Fox constantly feuded on the set? P.G., Toledo, Ohio

A: Not at all. In fact, Scott stated, "Actually, it's surprising to be around someone like Michael, who's largely self-taught in so many areas. He's extremely alert, bright and most cooperative to work with and he has his hand in many pies — just as I have. Performing with him has proven to be a terrific experience for me."

Soap Updates by Seli Groves

ALL MY CHILDREN: Tad told Opal she can stay just for a while with him and Dixie but called Joe to take her in. But Opal slipped on the rug, and claiming she injured her back pointed out she was in no condition to be moved. While watching a soap opera, Opal got an idea on how to upset her longer-to make Palmer more receptive. Trevor warned Trask and Lance to stay away from Slade. Jeremy comforted Skye who continued to feel the pain of Adam's rejection. Donna was surprised when Chuck announced he was staying in Pine Valley. Wait To See: Natalie makes a potentially dangerous decision.

ANOTHER WORLD: A stunned Felicia found toys and clothes for poor children in Lucas' booth at the warehouse. Olivia warned Matt about Jessica's involvement with Lucas. Rachel talked her way into a job at Odyssey and met her new boss, Ken Jordan. Cass got Frankie to agree to a reconciliation. John was upset when Mary had a patient in the hospital and then found Sharlene in intimate conversation with Lucas. Jake followed Donna as she inquired about the night Michael was shot. Amanda was wracked with guilt after making love to Evan and felt when Sam came looking for her Wait To See: Lucas is put in a corner and is forced to act.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: Andy was determined not to give up trying to get Julie back. Prannie told Kim Bob was having left her because of all the time she was spending with John. Lloyd told Tom that once Phillip has located his grandchildren, he'll have Emily and Ellie killed. Lily overheard Emily warn Barbara to "lay off," or she'll tell Hal that Barbara knew about Adam all along. Brock warned Caleb to keep quiet about Ellie's story regarding that night in Indiana. Phillip learned that Lloyd is the informer. Emily heard a short ring call Wait To See: Margo is curiously about Bruce. Dreyfuss could create problems for Tom.

BOLD & THE BEAUTIFUL: Beth realized Stephanie pulled the wool over her eyes moved her and Steve to Paris. Thorne and Macy spent a passionate night at the cabin in the Big Bear. Todd told Eric Stephanie Brooke and Thorne he would send Caroline and was surprised at Thorne's non-hateful reaction. Clarke warned Sally that Thorne will drop Macy if he learned who her mother is. Wait To See: Thorne and Brooke find they share many things in common.

DALLAS: As the investigative committee convened, the fate of Bobby (Brenda) was revealed, but ambitious, Lill Barnes. Meanwhile a brooding J.R. blamed James for Mitchelle's decision to break up with him. Wait To See: His calm demeanor and feeling for Mitchelle. Lill wants for the reaction to his culpability for the oil disaster.

Urged on by Tad, Eve told Shane Kimberly shot him and Rebecca arrived to be with him. Patch was set adrift trying to rescue Kayla. Wait To See: Kayla feels that people close to her may be hurt by her.

FALCON CREST: Richard managed to drive Walker over the edge when he gave Lauren a gift of a van for the baby he has begun, and paid the price for his duplicity. Wait To See: Walker's threat to blow up his competitor's winery comes to reality.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: Bits gained as Kate's plans reach Robert worked with Anna. Kate and Sean to break Jimmy down by grudgingly him with Davida's voice. Julian contacted Michael to plan a surprise meeting his sister Later Anna was shocked when the judge granted Olivia bail, thanks to Julian's manipulations. The damaging locket was sent to Anna despite Lucy's attempts to get it back from the mail chute Wait To See: Jimmy seems to hold all the cards, as Robert sees his chances of beating him disappear.

GENERATIONS: Martin learned he won't be getting the government contract Later he told Doreen what she had already overheard, that he was transferring his assets to her to protect her and the baby's future. Jason arranged to marry Monique in the hospital Maya was overjoyed when Adam and Sam got her a job as a dance instructor at the Winston, but later after calling Adam to say she can't take it, a man took the phone from her and hung it up Wait To See: An increasingly jealous and insecure Martin creates more problems for Doreen.

GUIDING LIGHT: Phillip fired Bradley from Spaulding after Beth refused to be attracted her more than once Billy refused to accept Vanessa's apology after she caused him to lose out on the Spaulding deal. Johnny and Frank searched for Christine who was trapped in the studio after finding a bride doll with a severed head. Nell gained access to old articles about Beth's disappearance Phillip visited Alex in prison and learned Blackburn, disguised as a security guard could have been the one who attacked Beth. Wait To See: Blake has some scores to settle

GEO CHEVROLET METRO

This is it, folks the EPA economy champ It's the Geo Chevrolet Metro, a vehicle with a highway gas mileage rating of 50 miles per gallon Does the Metro live up to its claim of petroleum frugality" Is it a decent car otherwise Metro live up to its claim of petroleum frugality" Is it a decent car otherwise and a good value" In most ways the answer is yes, but it definitely isn't a car for everyone.

Inside, the Metro LSI (the top of the line, the car's actually built by Suzuki and imported by Chevrolet/Geo) is plush The seats are comfortable and and imported by Chevrolet/Geo) is plush The seats are comfortable and good quality, though the remainder of the interior varies considerably There's plenty of room up front, though, and it's not uncomfortable, despite the car's tiny overall size there's even a back seat suitable for short trips and a small "trunk." With the rear seat folded down, the luggage area is cavernous.

Inside the Metro, the Geo doesn't have a cover to mask the space between the seatback and hatch That's inexcusable at any price point in the country, neighborhood ripoff artist from Detroit. Without a cover, valuables are just as annoyingly the same area acts as an echo chamber while you're driving. If you or Bundy make a cover from wood, if not, buy it as an option with the car for $100

A word about Metro models There are three, some with significant differences. The bottom of the line is the XFI the nation's fuel economy champ with an EPA rating of 53 city/58 highway. It's only stark trim and actually is a slightly different car from the LSI, the model tested Its roofline is lower for instance and the back seat is useless Its gearing is higher for ultimate fuel economy and at 81,960 delivers overstressed little ease, even ultimate fuel economy and at 81,960 delivers overstressed little ease, even air conditioning isn't available The other two Metro models are the LS and LSI, slightly larger, more comfortable cars that vary only in significant ways In trim level and comfort terms You can also order air conditioning for these features the EPA rating falls to 46 city and 50 highway

The heart of any car is its engine, and the Metro is equipped with a well-proven 1.0 liter, 48 horsepower three-cylinder It is a willing, but noisy performer 1.0 liter, 48 horsepower three-cylinder It is a willing, but noisy and slightly rough powerplant, cold drive ability was good, though, and at highway speeds the Metro can take it's 13.5 seconds, slow but adequate Now the big question What kind of real world mileage does this car deliver" About 37 city and 47 highway are what you'll get, only recently considered figures and at least seven real world miles per gallon better than the Ford Festiva, Subaru Justy, or similar cars These figures can only be challenged by the Honda Civic HF but it is considerably more expensive If you opt for the Metro XFI instead of the LSI you can expect three miles per gallon better all around, but lower acceleration due to a gear difference

An automatic is available with an EPA rating of 37 city/50 highway, expect about three miles per gallon less with that transmission and marginally adequate acceleration

What's really wrong with the Metro" Just a few items The first is the car's slight nimbleness, something due to a paucity of sound deadening The LS1 is used in the driver's door armrest, which inexplicably has a "well" just where your elbow sits That's uncomfortable, and needs to be changed pronto The hard seats is initially subjective The car simply feels flimsy, though in reality it will probably last as long as any other vehicle Be aware, though, that the car's "feel" is unique

The bottom line on the Geo is it's a reasonable choice for commuting for drivers who value re sned, economy above all else It's probably the ultimate economy car after all, a cross-country trip in a Metro would probably cost less than $75 for gas! My choice of models would be the bottom-line XFI, but beware its starkness and lack of air conditioning Alternately the LS, at $6,695 base, is the best the LSI is nice, but doesn't offer enough value to my way of thinking For about $6,000 (plus tax, minus a possible discount), you can get an outstanding economy car In the long run, it should cost you less overall (or nearly so) than any competitor's model The Metro is an outstanding commuter car, buying one would be a reasonable decision

DECORATING PANCAKES
While making pancakes for my family I took a cake decorating tube and filled it up with pancake batter. I decorated much of the cooking pancakes with names, pictures and faces, then flipped them

It is amazing the simple things you can do with your children and have so much fun to have. My children and I had a most enjoyable breakfast Brenda L. Duluth, Minn

WRAPPING PAPER — My husband is an avid deer hunter who prefers to package the meat himself I had this empty freezer wrap boxes to throw away when I thought of a different use for them

Having a large family this last Christmas meant a lot of gift wrapping, which I generally enjoy doing However unless I buy wrapping paper with rows of designs I can cut along, the paper never comes out even

So, after removing the adjoining ends, I taped the two freezer wrap boxes together (end to end) with the seven stripes in line and found that most wrapping paper will fit in the long box easily Now I can tear off even amounts of paper just like aluminum foil Frannie M., St. Johnsbury, Vt.

Q: Can my town legally put horror film videos in the X-rated porno section where kids can't get them unless our parents buy one? Answer fast, please. (Name and town withheld on request)

A: I imagine an ordinance passed by your town council and approved by your mayor can stand unless challenged legally by local government has the right to apply community standards to determine pornography However, I'm not sure a horror film, even the most gruesome variety — would be classified as such Tacky maybe but not pornographic

Q: What was Dixie Carter's role on "Edge of Night?" Was she the one who played Raven? Kathy B., Los Angeles, Calif.

A: Dixie played Beverly Henderson on the old soap Raven was played by Sharon Gabet who then did two other soaps, "Another World" and "One Life to Live."

Q: Is Robert Loggia, who stars in "Manhunt, FBI," married or single? I think he's the serial man on TV. Sara, Brooklyn, N.Y.

A: Loggia is very happily married. Hope that doesn't change your estimation of his obvious sex appeal, does it?

YOUR HOROSCOPE

by Charles King Cooper

WEEKLY TIP: Compassionate guidance is the keynote in dealings with children this week

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) An offbeat career proposition is made to you now You'll come to a decision about a school or travel matter Social life finds you in demand You'll stand out from the crowd in some way now and don't be surprised if some unusual types are attracted to you

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A career matter is finally settled this week You may feel strongly drawn toward someone, but may not be ready to reveal your attraction Group activities and creative work reignite your interest now Experiment with a new look

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You're somewhat independent and flirtatious at this time, be sure to complete tasks that need to be done around the house Recreation is high on your list of things to do An impromptu party is a possibility Some begin a decorating project this week

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Work left over from the office fills some of your time this week but the accent quickly switches to pleasure with exciting romance a distinct likelihood For singles, love at first sight is a strong possibility — by all means go for it! Couples enjoy renewed romance as well

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Visits or news from grands kindern are indicated Romance and travel make for a pleasant combination A work colleague may appeal to you romantically Partners are likely to keep you guessing but any surprises will be pleasant Enjoy!

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) You'll make your mark socially today Singles meet with unexpected romantic introductions Partnership activities are highlighted For a while, you're closeted with your own thoughts, but the week takes an upbeat turn with unexpected romantic developments

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Your social life continues at a hectic pace, but you should impress others favorably Don't overtax yourself lest you become cranky or impatient It's a good week for business talks, but perhaps you have too many irons in the fire

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You give helpful advice now and also work well in partnership Grandparents have special times with children Some couples make plans for travel You have a good head for facts and figures now and will focus on financial and investment matters

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Affairs of the heart are happily accented this week Romance may come unexpectedly to the unattached and marrieds will find that a special time of closeness Your attention to detail pays off for you as you are especially effective on the job

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Family discussions are favored as well as entertaining at home Shopping could lead to unexpected purchases and ales to the ownership of something beautiful Charm and persuasiveness are your allies You continue to improve others favorably

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) The way you handle yourself this week wins the respect of others and unfortunately some jealousy too But do enjoy this wave of popularity Your main focus is on career interests now Behind-the-scenes moves are best Social life could lead to romance

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Finance play an all-important role in your life now However you need to guard against self-indulgence and spending your money on things that don't promise more than you can deliver on the job This is a perfect time for furthering heart interests

Stroh's Sportsman Schedule Set

A tentative schedule for the 1990 Stroh's Sportsman Series has been announced There are currently 46 races on the schedule at eight different central Pa speedways Silver Spring Speedway is the home of the Sportsman and opens the season on Saturday afternoon March 31 Other shows include four stops at Susquehanna and Williams Grove, three at Port Royal a pair of events at Penn National and single shows at Big Diamond Path Valley and Selinsgrove Path Valley is the newest stop and Sportsman drivers are looking forward to challenging the finely groomed quarter mile oval

The 1985 Silver Spring Sportsman champion Howie Locke is ready for the 1990 season Locke will campaign a Jackie Trout owned no. 77 Sportsman for the seventh straight year Locke will unlike the 1989 Hemchcraft wrenched by his father Fred Locke and Bill McBride Last year, Howie served as his own team manager as well as driver He enjoyed both challenges and hopes to improve upon last season's fine fifth place point finish The car is ready to go and waiting to be lettered

Dave Crocher has plenty of reasons to smile these days Crocher will have a new Tobias Chassis for the coming season to go along with a big sponsorship program The Crocher team is full of optimism and busy preparing for racing season With three straight trip ten Stroh's point finishes, Crocher may now have the help that he needs for his best year ever

The Ken and Vicki Hamilton racing team remain together for 1990. One of the best new car owners on the Sportsman scene, Ken Hamilton will field the Walt Bigler prepared No. 93 for talent veteran racer Bob Fannasy After a strong second half to 1989, this team should be ready to go at the drop of the green flag on opening day

One of the area's Micro sprint drivers will be joining the Sportsman ranks for 1990 Scott Klinefelter has purchased the LPS car from Brad Beecher The car was new last year and built for Rich Canalli who sold the car to Brad Beecher late in the season Beecher got upside down during a qualifying event for the Sportsman 100 injuring his back. Doctors have advised Brad to take a year off, and he is selling his racing equipment Klinefelter has been racing Micros for seven seasons and last year he was fifth in final points in a car he built along with his father Scott was looking for a new challenge and chose the highly competitive Sportsman division He likes the family atmosphere and the good group of people in Sportsman acting He certainly has a family influence on his racing program The new No 29 Sportsman is owned by his parents and his father will serve as chief mechanic His goal is to capture the 1990 Stroh's Sportsman Series rookie of the year honors
